Sister Kelly Connors, pm, JCD, Ph.D., a member of the Sisters of Presentation of Mary of the United States Province, is senior director of sponsor services for the Catholic Health Association of the United States (CHA). Sister Kelly develops, implements and evaluates programs, services, and resources designed to support sponsors of Catholic health care in the United States, laity, religious and bishops. As a canonist, she also works in cooperation with other service areas within CHA, providing research, development, education and facilitation around forms of sponsorship preparing to meet future ministry needs.

Prior to joining CHA, Sister Kelly served as a canonical consultant to various dioceses and religious institutes. She has an extensive background in education, having taught at the secondary, undergraduate and graduate levels. Most recently, she was an instructor at St. Joseph's College in Standish, Maine and conducted educational programs with leaders of religious institutes at the Institute of Law and Religious Life at Misericordia University in Dallas, Pa.

Sister Kelly earned a doctorate in canon law (JCD) at St. Paul University, Ottawa, and a Ph.D. from the University of Ottawa. She has a master's degree in theological studies from Weston Jesuit School of Theology in Cambridge, Mass.
